Pit and Balcony Community Theatre is a community institution celebrating its 90th season in the City of Saginaw. Through ups and downs in our community, Pit and Balcony has remained a place of celebration where people from all walks of life gather and share stories and experiences with one another. This would not be possible without dedicated community partners like yourself. It is our sponsors who keep the lights on and the music playing for our friends and neighbors right here in Saginaw County.

Organizations like Pit and Balcony are vital to our region's comeback. Through the building of sets and creation of costumes, cast and crew members coming and going, or patrons getting drinks and meals before and after the show, Pit and Balcony drives economic activity throughout Saginaw. In fact, for every dollar spent at the theatre, three more are circulated into our local economy. The benefit is not just dollars and cents; Pit and Balcony also gives our fellow community members opportunities to explore new ideas, make new friends, and learn new skills. Most importantly, it gives us an opportunity to gather together again and share a laugh, a gasp, or even a tear.

More than 8,000 people will come through Pit and Balcony during our 90th season, many of whom are your friends and neighbors. Our volunteers and patrons are immensely grateful for our sponsors who allow us to be their home away from home and favorite ticket in Saginaw. I hope you consider joining them, it would mean a lot to us, to our patrons, and to our community. An overview of our sponsorship opportunities is listed on the other side of the page along with a short form you can return to the theater however you see fit. You can find more information on our website: www.pitandbalconytheatre.com, and please do not hesitate to reach out with any questions you may have, I would be happy to welcome you into the Pit and Balcony Family.
